Homecoming is back!

By: Jayda Ralph

Students and staff were so excited to finally welcome a normal Homecoming back. Many fun activities took place throughout the week of October 4th-9th. Monday's dress up day was Disney/Marvel character. It also included hallway decorating judging, and the freshman's lunch game, which was Basketball tic tac toe.

Tuesday's dress up day was Color Day (Seniors- Black, Juniors- White, Sophomores- Blue, Freshman- Red, Middle School- Orange, Elementary- Neon, and Staff-camo).

Wednesday's dress up day was Senior Citizen day. There were many creative costumes and it was fun to see all the different styles exhibited. This was a very activity-filled day, including Powderpuff (Seniors vs Juniors, Sophomores vs Freshman) and the 1st annual night walk/run replacing the bonfire. It was a very fun and successful night!

Thursday's dress up day was Surfer vs Cowboy. The football jersey auction also took place. There were two lunch games held on Thursday, 4-square volleyball and a minute-to-win-it ping pong game.

Friday's dress up day was spirit day. It was a day full of lots of competition and fun. The day started off with float decorating at the bus barn, and then transferred up to the football field for some games including cageball and an obstacle course. After lunch there were the men's volleyball games, the pep rally with skits and lip syncs, with the spirit stick being awarded to the Senior Class! After school was the parade. Later on Friday night, the Blue-Golds secured a win and qualified for play-offs against the visiting Boscobel Bulldogs.

Saturday the volleyball team played at home against Desoto, and Cross Country had a big meet in Albany. The fun week came to an end Saturday night after the Homecoming dance which everyone enjoyed tremendously.

WAYS TO COPE WITH STUDENT STRESS

BY: MELANIE MULLIKIN

Balancing school, sports and work can be quite challenging and stressful for a student. However, there are still ways you can help lessen the amount of stress that comes along with it. Finding a good support system, being organized and taking care of yourself are all helpful things. Communicating with those around you can also make a difference since it would allow them to help out with the small things. It's easy to get stressed out with so many things going on but that does not mean it can't be done.

Finding people to support and help you out can make things a lot easier to deal with. Communicating with your teachers, boss and coaches is smart because it lets them know what is going on and hopefully, will allow them to have a more open mind. Not only is communication important, knowing when to ask for help is as well. Most people are hesitant to ask for help but it can actually take a lot of the stress off of your shoulders.

Taking care of yourself is something that most people will brush off as unimportant but can actually make a big difference. Even if it is as simple as getting a good night's sleep, it can help prepare you for your list of responsibilities and can make it easier to do. So, even if it seems as though there's an endless amount of things to get done, don't ignore your own needs and take small breaks once in a while. This will actually end up making you more likely to get things done since you won't risk getting burnt out and exhausted.

One last helpful tip would be to stay organized and give yourself a designated spot to study or work. Being organized is a huge step in being able to handle lots of responsibilities since it makes it easier to separate work, school and other things. Although most people already know that, it can be hard to do when there's a lot going on. There are ways to make it easier though, like making a to-do list the night before a busy day and decluttering messy areas that add stress can help quite a bit.

At the end of the day, stress is something that every student will deal with at some point. That doesn't mean that they have to let it overwhelm them though. Allowing yourself time to yourself, keeping in touch with others and having good time management will help alleviate some pressure that comes along with school, sports, work, etc. Remembering that it will all pass eventually and keeping a positive mindset all plays a big part as well.

Coming Soon: The Tech Ed Shop Hang out

By: Jayda Ralph

Tech Ed teacher Mr. Gillitzer has a few of his students handling a big project. He is reaching out to companies around the area for donations to help out with supplies. They are starting out with laying the groundwork for a spot for students to hang out, do their homework, and have fun outside of the shop.

Pictured is senior Noah Jenson-LaLande digging the trenches for a retaining wall. This project is aimed to be finished in the spring.

Fire Prevention Week

On Friday, October 15th, the Wauzeka-Stauben elementary students took a field trip to the fire department and learned about fire safety as part of the annual Fire Prevention Week. Students were able to tour the station, practice holding a hose and try on uniforms. The school would like to thank the Fire Department Volunteers for showing our students all about fire safety.

Earth & Space News

Earth and Space class launched their water rockets the week of October 11th. They have researched, designed and engineered their rockets that resulted in a class competition. After their initial launch and calculating launch data, they will redesign their rockets for a more efficient launch. The students just completed a unit on rockets, unmanned and manned space flight and rocket fuel systems.

This month during PBIS, students learned what it means to be an upstander. An upstander is a person who speaks or acts in support of an individual being attacked or bullied. October is anti-bullying month. Students discussed what it means to bully and how we need to stand up for those who are bullied, not only in October, but year-round. This goes for cyber bullying also. For information on being an upstander, check out <https://www.stopbullying.gov>.

Congratulations to our September Students of the Month

Isabelle Read: Isabelle has done a really nice job at school. She is kind and inclusive to her friends. She does her best work in the classroom and follows our PBIS rules very well. She is a very good example to her peers and is also very helpful too. I am very proud of her hard work. Isabelle is in Mrs. Cathy's Kindergarten class and the daughter of Ben and Nicole Read.

Amelia Roth: Amelia is always respectful and kind to her classmates and teachers. Amelia is a great participant in class, and she is always looking to help others and offers a helping hand to her classmates and teachers without being asked or told. Amelia is in Mrs. Okey's 1st Grade Class and the daughter of A.V. Roth and Staci Wilson.

Arabella Redman: Arabella is such a hard worker in school. She puts her maximum effort into every assignment. She asks for help when she needs it, spends her extra time studying for quizzes and most importantly recognizes her own weaknesses. Everyday she is looking to improve on them. She's a great example of what a Wauzeka Hornet should strive for. Arabella is in Mr. Cornell's 4th Grade Class and the daughter of Craig and Angie Redman.

Breileigh Trautsch: Breileigh works hard in class and is always following classroom rules and expectations. The last 1 week+ Breileigh has been virtual. She shows up to Zooms on time and during our Zooms, still participates in the lessons. She also shows a great deal of responsibility by emailing me about things that were unclear or problems she is having with the wifi or the computer. Being virtual can be difficult, so I really appreciate Breileigh being responsible during this time. Breileigh is in Mrs. Martin's 5th Grade Class and the daughter of Brian and Ashley Trautsch.

(High School) Trent Gillitzer-Trent has been excellent in my class this month. Despite a transition to virtual learning, Trent has been an active participant in class discussions, and he has continued to submit excellent work with access to less resources than many students. While I am proud of all of my students' efforts, Trent has gone above and beyond to stay engaged in a uniquely demanding school year. Trent is a junior this year and the son of Mike and Angie Gillitzer.

(Middle School) Alexa Martin-Alexa always stays on task and does her best. She is respectful to her teachers and peers and always willing to help out. Alexa stays organized and is a great role-model for other students. Alexa is in 6th grade and is the daughter of Amanda Martin and Cody Esser, and Travis and Kelly Martin.

Dear Parents/Guardians:

Please read over this Partners in Learning Compact with your child or children and discuss its importance. This document is a compact that we are required to have on record for each student in the school stating that we (students, parents, and educators) are all partners in their learning. Even though it is required by law, I firmly believe in the statements listed. This is a step in the right direction to get our students to take ownership and responsibility for their actions regarding homework, schoolwork, and their behavior. Please take the time to sit down with your child(ren) and discuss the listed goals in-depth and then sign, and date the form. Only ONE Partners in Learning Compact needs to be filled out per household. That means all of your school age children need to sign the same compact. I ask that you make sure all of the students in the household have read the document with you and sign their names. Please return the form to Mrs. Folbrecht, your child's teacher, or to the main office as soon as possible.

Wauzeka-Steuben Schools is a Schoolwide Title I school. This means that I am able to work with students K-12 who qualify for my services in the area of Reading. I would also like you to know that I am here to support you, your child, and our teachers in helping give your child access to the best education they can receive. If you have any questions concerning your child's reading education please call or email me at any time.

Thank you,
